You could do this on a smaller scale with regular graph paper, too. The fun thing about this math art project is the patterns you create by just making circles! You start by drawing a circle using the graph paper squares as a guide to make them all even. I made our circles 4 squares wide. Draw the circle using the compass.

To draw the grid lines on paper, I would recommend using a mechanical pencil, so that you can get a thin, precise line. Be sure to draw the grid very lightly, so that you can easily erase it when you are finished. To draw the grid lines on canvas or wood, I would suggest using a thin piece of sharpened charcoal. Again, make sure you make the grid lines as light as possible, so that they are easy to erase when you are finished.

Draw like Da Vinci and Dürer with the help of the grid. Take a picture (or use one from your photo-roll), scale it, rotate it, pan it. Add a grid to it. Pan and scale the grid. Save the project when finished. When ready to draw, load the project and press the start button. A counter will keep track of the time you spend on the project.
