Tony Morrison – Staff Supervision in Social Care (2001) ' At the heart of reflective practice is the idea that our actions should be informed by a knowledge base that we engage with actively, as opposed to forms of practice that are based on unthinking habits or routines or knee jerk reactions to situations. A reflective practitioner is someone who acts on the basis of understanding and a careful consideration of the situation being dealt with.

~~8.1.3 Staff Supervision and Appraisal (Performance Management)~~

Through regular, structured meetings with a supervisor, care staff can develop their understanding and improve their practice. What is supervision? The primary functions of supervision are: administrative case management; reflecting on and learning from practice; personal support; professional development; and mediation, in which the supervisor acts as a bridge between the individual staff member and the organisation they work for.
