Interspersed throughout the book are profiles of famous magicians and illusionists, such as Harry Houdini and David Blaine, and stories of how they used science to create their most famous tricks.
Science is Magic is the perfect addition to any family bookshelf or classroom, putting a fresh spin on science for kids. What's fantastic about this kids' activity book is that many of the magic tricks or experiments are something you learn to perform on a friend and require practise.

So in Crowley's view, magic is the understanding and use of natural phenomena which hasn't been yet discovered by science. So in the future, science could well discover that there's a natural explanation for voodoo for example. A voodoo practitioner on the other hand is already using what could be termed a "scientific method".
